Best Bariatric Surgeons

David D. Kim, M.D.

Dr. David Kim has been trained to perform numerous operations in the fields of general surgery, vascular surgery, and weight loss surgery (also known as bariatric surgery). After completing specialty training and fellowships in all 3 areas, he has over 18 years of private practice experience in these specialties. Bariatrics is now his exclusive focus, with over 3500 weight loss procedures completed, consisting of gastric bypass, lap band, and gastric sleeve operations. He also performs the more difficult bariatric revision surgeries on patients who need a more effective weight loss tool for their metabolism or lifestyle. All of these operations are performed with a scope and very small incisions which reduce recovery time and pain, and also creates less scarring.

The mission statement at Live Life Again Bariatric Center is to give patients a second chance at life. They offer individualized care as a team including a registered dietitian, bariatric nurses and physician assistants specializing in care for weight loss patients. Support groups are offered based specifically on the surgical procedure, as each requires new behaviors. A healthy lifestyle is promoted through training classes on nutrition and exercise to insure that each patient has all of the tools to move forward to a healthier, happier life.

"I love weight loss surgery because I can help a person with almost every problem he or she has. What other operation will cure Diabetes up to 95% of the time? As a vascular surgeon, I often had to perform amputations that ruined someone's quality of life. As a bariatric surgeon, not only do I get to save their leg but I also improve their lives. I get a chance to make a lot of friends because of my practice"
